1984 Canticle

South Catholic High School

Hartford, Connecticut

1984

When George Orwell wrote his novel 1984, he wrote about a vision. His vision was a view of life in the future. The main character in the novel, Winston Smith, was a human being who was trapped in a cruel and dangerous world. This world was ruled by a government which suppressed every basic human need. The need to believe in something greater than yourself, the need to love and to be loved, to think and to act freely all were stifled and finally replaced. They were replaced with man's basest emotions such as conceit, hatred and complacency. Winston lived in such a world and he rebelled against it.

In writing 1984, George Orwell did not intend for it to become a landmark in literature. He did not expect it to be the standard by which all other prophetic novels were to be compared. He wrote it simply to state an idea. The idea was that in every society there are certain elements, which when left unchecked, transform a society from one of truth, justice, mercy and freedom to a society of mindless entities.

Many years have passed since George Orwell finished his novel and now the year of his prophetic vision is here. The year is 1984 and we are the class of 1984. There are no mysteries to be solved; no grey areas to be defined for us. We are George Orwell's future generation. Luckily, our destiny will be determined by ourselves and not guided by the visionary warnings of one man. It is up to us whether to seek greater freedom through science or to be enslaved by it. Only we can decide whether a government's purpose is to make puppets of its people or to serve them.

Perhaps, the most sacred duty entrusted to us is the duty of defining love. We must determine whether love is a synonym for respectful fear or whether it can remain the greatest of human emotions. Entrusted with this task, we leave South Catholic High School and go out on our own, where we must learn from the past and formulate our own vision of the future. We can learn from George Orwell's novel what society could become if we do not care. So, we must ensure that our future will never become an Orwellian 1984.

SPIRITUAL LIFE

In George Orwell's novel 1984, religion and spiritual life was replaced by Big Brother. The people of Oceania worshiped their political leader, Big Brother, with blind faith. O'Brien, a character in the novel, states, "There will be no loyalty except loyalty toward the Party. There will be no love except the love of Big Brother."

By contrast, at South Catholic each person has the opportunity to develop a sense of spirituality. Students are able to find their own way of expressing their faith in God. Some of our students chose to reject this offer but many of us have grown as Christians through activities such as Christian Leadership, Youth ARC, San Jaun Center, and daily and holiday masses. In 1984, the "Party" reduced man to something less than human. At South Catholic, we elevate man to his divinity through the teachings of Christ.

Fr. O'Keefe, Fr. Traxl and Fr. Murphy celebrate mass.

Fr. Traxl assists in the reading of the gospel.

Fr. Baranowski, with accompanist Mark Marszycki, leads the music during the mass.

Liz Jachym "drives" the sophmores wild.

Bill Dunn expresses his thoughts during the summer leader retreat.

"There are no strangers here; We are all friends!"

e Queen of Hearts Dance.

J. Flaherty, M. Drolet, C. Delaney, S. Curley, M. Coughlin, and A. Capossella being inducted into National Honor Society.

Class of 1986

Lucy Ziobro and Kathy Mazur enjoy dancing to "Kix" ophomore king, Steve Sonnone, and queen, Sue Stawiarski, are anounced at the Queen of Hearts dance.

Dianne Stewart and Rosyln Johnson are awed at being in yearbook pictures.

Sophomores find a sense of accomplishment after having made it through freshman year! They return to South no longer the lowly freshmen they once were. Sophomore service Day provides a time for the sophomores to work together again as a class. As sophomores, students have a chance to expand socially and academically as they face the challenge of courses such as Christian Personal Growth, Algebra II, English II, and Madrigals.

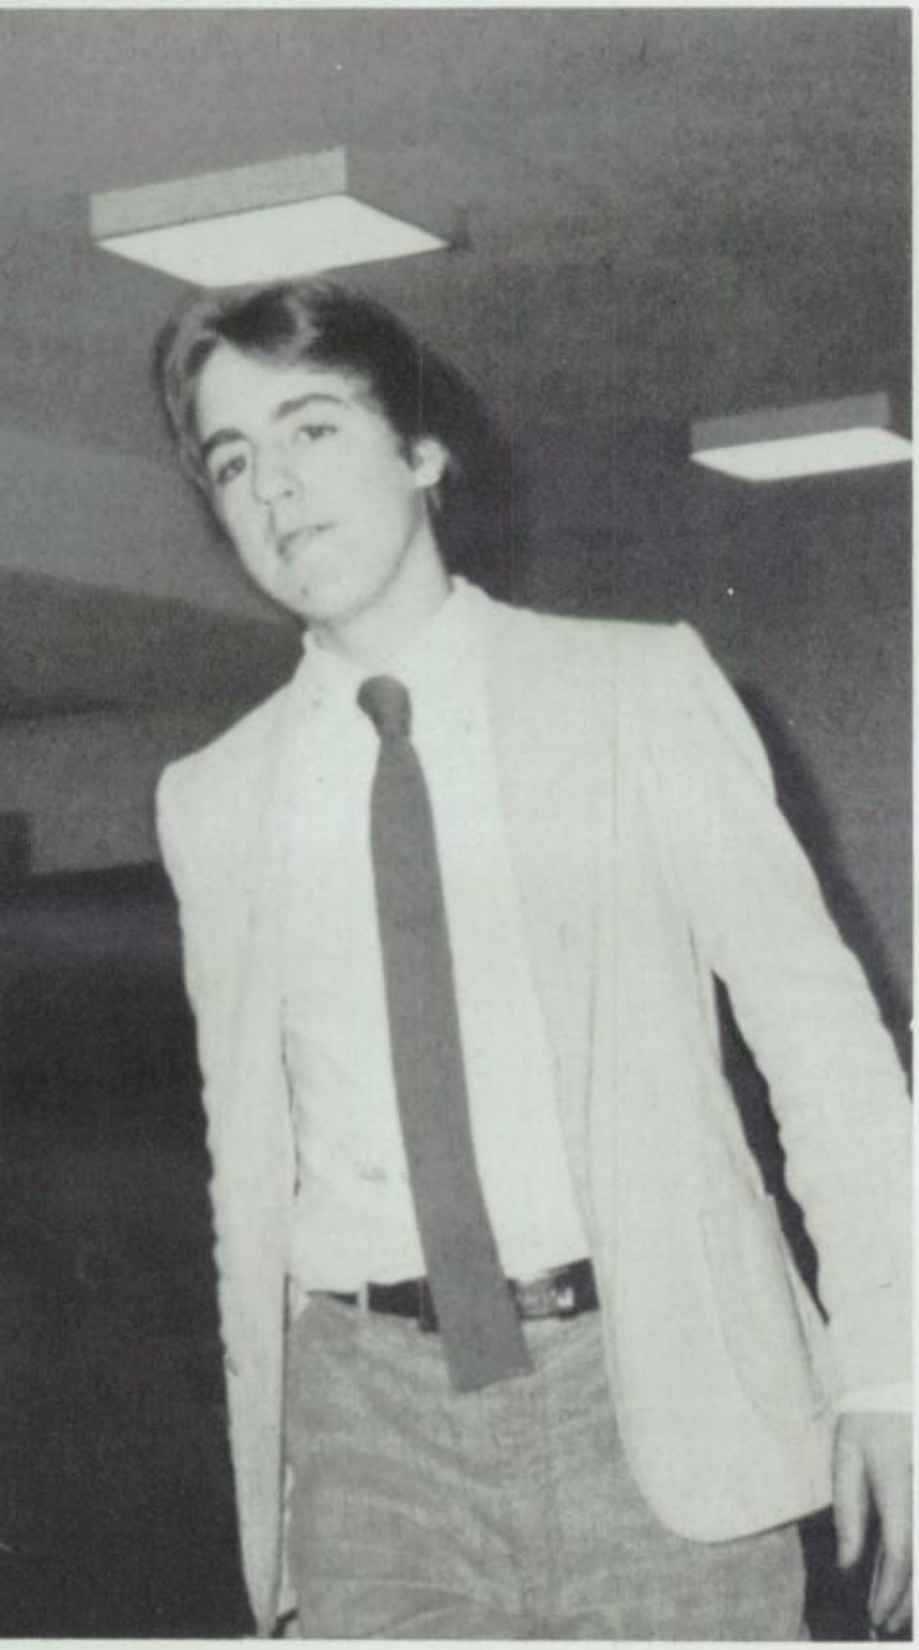
Ed Quick hard at work in the cafeteria.



Michael Davoren cruising among the tables.

Carolyn Clark and Mary Conneely working together in study hall.

Freshman year at South Catholic is a time of great adjustment. There are challenges and new experiences throughout the year as courses such as Algebra I, Western Civilization and first year languages are being mastered. As freshmen, students familiarize themselves with the community of South Catholic, discover a true sense of belonging, and establish many long-lasting friendships.

We, the Class of 1984, would like to thank the faculty for guiding us during our four years at South. They have been an example and inspiration to us all. Most importantly, they have been our friends. There is not one student of our class who can say he or she was not befriended and made to feel welcome by the faculty at South. They have made our high school years a very special time; a time we will never forget. For this, we would like to thank each and every one of the faculty of South Catholic High School.

George Orwell in his book 1984 foresaw a world in which education became a privilege and the truth an exception. Unlike Orwell's vision, education today has taken on a new and deeper meaning. Learning has become much more than a mental exercise. Only through this knowledge and understanding of their environment can a person clearly see the beauty and simplicity of the truth.

Was Orwell exaggerating when he wrote of war, deception and hatred, or was he somehow a prophet of things yet to be? The only answer to these questions lies within ourselves. It is clearly our decision to make whether education remains a basic human right or whether it fades into obscurity for the sake of preserving the imperfections of the present.

Maria Garcia, member of the Freshman Chorus, sings a solo.

South Catholic's musical groups held their annual Christmas Concert in the auditorium on December 17 and 18. This year's program included a small skit which recounted the story of the Amal, as well as, performances by the Madrigals, Glee Club, Swing Choir and the Freshman Chorus.

Junior Ring Day

(l-r) D. Spooner, S. Barbieri, G. Barnum, P. Bascetta, J. Beale, L. Bendezu, M. Bevins, F. Famiglietti and T. Blonski actively participate in the celebration of the liturgy on the morning of Junior Ring Day.

Tom Blonski and Diane Ambrogio dance the night away at Glastonbury Hills on the night of the Junior Ring Day dinner/dance.

Aside from Graduation, Junior Ring Day is by far, the most memorable and exciting day of high school. A solemn mass in the morning followed by a dinner/dance in the evening highlight the day.

Father Gagne blesses the ring of George Andrew as Katie Kuehnel looks on.

lass member Betsy Brennan offers some inspiring words to her fellow class-ates during the Junior Ring Day liturgy.

Fall Drama Production

Tim Gulan and Alison Kelin socialize at a party given by Klein in Charlie Gordon's honor.

South's annual fall drama production for the 1983-84 school year was a powerful story about the life of a retarded man, Charlie Gordon. An operation transforms Gordon into a genius, although just temporarily. "Flowers For Algernon" was presented in the auditorium on November 18, 19, and 20.

Chairwoman Cathy Low introduces the next speaker at a me

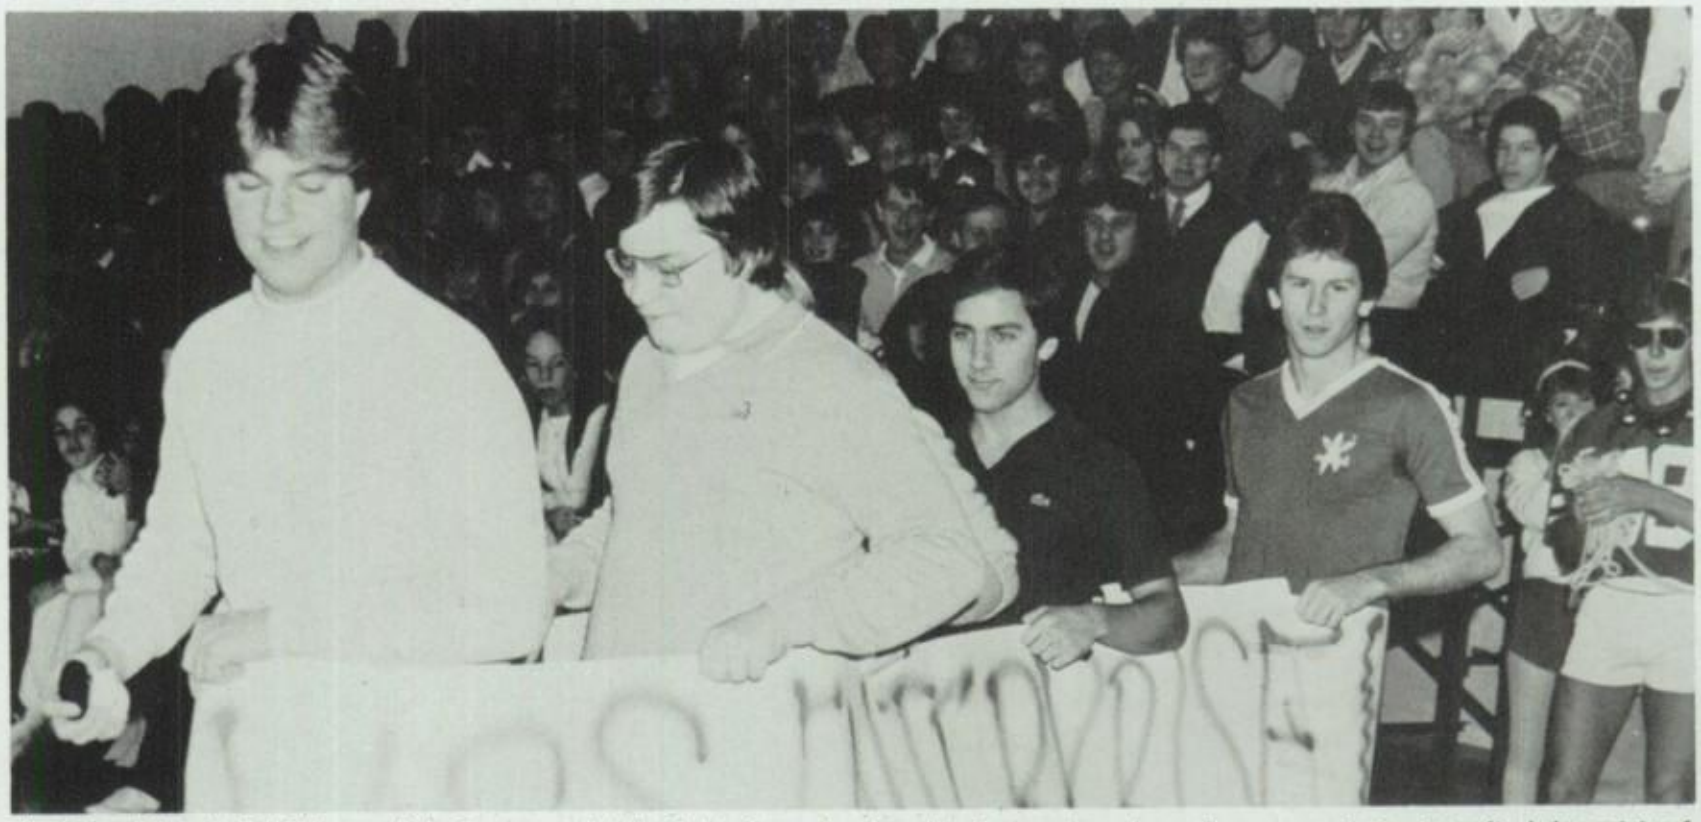
Ruta Virkutis and David Wysocki attend a concert as Peter Conneely and Mary Conneely look on.

David Wysocki(Charlie Gordon) introduces his pet mouse to his landlady Cathy Low.

Mark Marszycki (l), Ruta Virkutis (c) and Ed Paquette (r) argue about the fate of their subject, Charlie Gordon.

Car Wash/Christmas Skit



(l-r) Tom Blonski, Ed Gilberto, Rob Garrey and Mike Reidy form the Starship Enterprise whose five year mission is to find the spirit of Christmas.

On December 23, the senior class spread their Christmas cheer throughout the school. "Star Trek" was the theme of this year's Senior Skit. Crew members from the Starship Enterprise visited the freshman, sophomore and junior planets in search of the Christmas spirit to no avail. Naturally, the true Christmas spirt was found on the senior planet.

Mark Marszycki, as the most reverend William Traxl lectures endlessly to his most interested students.

John Egan displays his incredible talent for hosing off cars.

Patrick Conneely flashes that macho smile for the cameras.

Saturday, October 6 was the date of this year's Senior Car Wash. For $2.00, a person could see his filthy jallopy transformed into a sparkling new limo — compliments of the Senior Class.

Queen of Hearts

Saturday, January 28, was the date of this year's Queen of Hearts Dance. Students from all four classes flocked to the dance in record numbers. The band "Kix" provided the music for the evening. Diane Ambrogio, Tom Blonski, Mark Dignoti, Jeana DiGregorio, Arcolain Fountain, Karen Giucastro, Shawn Hixson, Mary-Ellen Kinsella, Bill Leonard, Annie Murasso, John O'Connor, Cheryl Peruch, Teresa Roman, Michael Smith, Brian Walmsley, Sally Zappulla were Senior homeroom kings and queens.

Mission Talent Night

Joe Ganci added an element of humor to the evening when he took on the job of the joke-cracking M.C.

Theresa Rodrigues pours her heart out as she sings a brilliant rendition of the song "Ben".

Chris Skowronek sings the John Cougar Mellencamp hit "Pink Houses." He also accompanied himself on the guitar.

All those who attended Mission Talent Night on Sunday, February 12, were treated to an evening of song and dance, as well as a mime number. The show was a tremendous success.

The multi-talented Skowronek shows much emotion during h number.

Edward Curley

Typical adolescent . . . testing the waters . . . flirting with the girls . . . going out with the boys . . . working on a tan . . . swimming . . . sports . . . ten speed bike . . . "Rifles for Watie" — favorite book . . . back from the Cape . . . parents don't understand . . . sister immature . . . little brother . . . trying to grow up . . . scared . . . first day of school . . . new faces . . . new places . . . will they like me? . . . a major step forward . . . brief life touched many . . . death taught us a lesson . . . make each day count . . . Class of 84 has arrived.

It was September 8, 1980, first day of school for the freshmen in the class of 1984. Feelings of excitement and wonder were in the air.

Over the P.A. came announcements that a classmate had been hit by a car. All began praying and hoping.

To this day we all recall clearly the events that ensued. Eddie Curley, unknown by many, later remembered by all, had been fatally injured in that accident.

Graduation arrives as a time of memories and hopes. Mixed feelings, feelings of sadness and happiness, are abundant in all. Integrated in our memories at graduation will be the life of a single person who touched our whole class and whose spirit will forever remain part of each one of us.

DRICO CORPORATION

CONGRATULATIONS TO THE CLASS OF "84"

The following former South Catholic students started working for DRICO Corporation while in high school and are still at DRICO during their summers. They were tops in their class then, and they are tops with us now.

Steven Paquette
South Catholic "81"
Now — Union College "85"
computer science/economic major
"Drico has been a good friend to all of its South Catholic employees over the years, and I am especially grateful to them for all the experience which I have gained during my 5 years here."

Joseph Iaia
South Catholic "82"
Now — College of the Holy Cross "86"
mathematics major
"Drico has taught me not only the importance of hard work and teamwork in the business world, but also when one is surrounded by quality people, continuing that trend becomes quite simple."

Main Office:

31 Prospect Avenue, West Hartford, CT 06106

Paula Iaia
South Catholic "81"
Now — College of the Holy Cross "85"
mathematics major
"Working at Drico has been just as much a learning experience as attending college. College teaches you the concepts; Drico lets you use them."

Genevieve LaCava
South Catholic "81"
Now — Providence College "85" mathematics — computer science major
"It is a privilege to be able to spend my vacations being a part of the Drico Corporation."

Lourdes Valdes
South Catholic "83"
Now — Flagler College "87" psychology/law major
"Working at Drico has given me experience in dealing with people; it has given me a sense of responsibility and independence. It's an asset that will help me in college."
